Fun Camp

FUN camps are structured as 3-4 day exposure in a semi urban or rural setup. Here, adolescents get a firsthand experience of appreciating a different socio-economic and cultural reality. Fun camps further helps with the following:

Build ownership for self and society by processing life experiences
Encourage learning by doing and reflecting on the rural experience
Assist in identifying areas of change or shift in attitude
Develop opportunity to exercise social responsibility

CBSE Trainings

Empanelled to offer CBSE mandated trainings to students, teachers and heads of institution in schools across India

Trainings that empower the students to define ‘Stereotypes’ and identify their personal stereotypes. Identify their own conflict handling modes and personal action forward vis-à-vis their mode.
Understand conflict resolution model of ESCA and identify one’s work, role and work, role and work relationship skills in adolescents.
Analyse impact of gender stereotyping and identify personal action forward to reduce gender stereotyping in society.
Identify their dominant behavior pattern between assertive, aggressive & submissive behavior.
Identify their position in a group with respect to different types of group behavior.
Evaluate personal listening skills

Youth Intervention

Youth Festival

3 Youth events were organized through these events we were able to reach out to 10300 people directly.

Music for Harmony is a festival organised by a core group of young volunteers, creates a beautiful narrative for irresponsibility. The event was a confluence of music, dance and drama. From the field of education to strategize to enable educational outreach, 10300 people experienced the event.

To empower adolescents by enabling them to question the existing gender story and therefore start to unravel it and creating a new gender narrative for irrespective of being boy or a girl.

450-500 adolescents were able to identify the gender and safety stories in their lives and examine them vis-à-vis their experienced reality.

Participant adolescents demonstrated enhanced confidence and abilities to take stances and action in their own and collective space of school on issues of safety through running a campaign.

60 academic and non-academic staff members articulated a greater confidence in positively addressing gender and safety issues in schools/institutions from the new and the pilot institutes.

A set of recommendations are to be developed to strengthen gender safety norms in schools and handed over to the State department of Education and the heads of the relevant school systems.

A Facilitators Manual of the “From Me to We: Challenging Gender Realities and Enhancing Safety through Leadership Journey”.

To empower adolescents by enabling them to question the existing gender story and therefore start to unravel it and creating a new gender narrative for irrespective of being boy or a girl.
Inward Bound

We have reached out to more than 1000 people through mobilization activities, out of which 322 people showed interest in engaging with further programmes by registering with us and we reached out to 600 people.

SMILE Internships

102 young people completing their internship. Through this internship they were able to impact 27670 people directly in the summer internship and 4247 people in the winter internships.

Youth Adda

One of the significant elements of a 5th space is the space to create cross border relationships and experiences. The Monthly Adda becomes one very critical strategy for this.

We reached out to 615 people directly through these Youth Addas as we collaborated with various colleges like IIT Delhi and various DU Colleges. Also, we collaborated with communities like Burmese Youth Association, Kathputli colony etc.

“I overcame my inhibitions and apprehensions in a way putting my first step to be a confident person also realized a lot of misconceptions about myself which were wrong.” – Tanushree, SMILE In-turn

Get REAL

An attempt to delve into deeper self, exploration of relationships and coming out with a tool that may be expected to be taken forward in facilitating the journey from ‘MEtoWE’. 21 young people participated in Get Real workshop

Youth Facilitators

More than 40 Youth facilitators engage with us in this period out of which 9 signed up for the next level journey of 5th space facilitators. 10 YFs took action projects in Caste in Stone journey and reached out to 8000 people directly and

Group Exposure

The objective of the Group Exposure is to facilitate the volunteers to understand the developmental realities, and to understand how they play a huge role in bringing a huge change in the environmental destruction that is rampant in the world.

In total we organized 3 exposures in Manthan, Rajasthan, Shri Bhuvneshwar Mahila Ashram (SBMA) Uttarakhand and Ranikhet Center
Pravah, in partnership and collaboration with United Nations Volunteers, Commutiny the Youth Collective and Restless Development has been running a series of Youth Adda's called “Sustainable Development Goals and Us!” to bring youth focus in Sustainable Development Goals and to make SDG’s relevant for young people.

We have built a cadre of 40 Youth facilitators who have demonstrated their leadership abilities through engagement in various action projects.

The annual youth festival, “Music For Harmony” was held on the 22nd February at the amphitheatre of DilliHaat in New Delhi. This year the festival explored the theme, “Weaving Social Inclusion through Music”, by collaborating with SamjhoToh Campaign, explored how different art forms can overcome barriers of identity to bring communities together.

YI was able to send 100 plus people for SMILE internship and they were able to engage with more than 30000 people directly through their action projects in the community out of these 100 around 40 opted for the youth facilitators journey and developed ten action projects which impacted 33000 people.

"Before this journey I used to connect to the place more than the people with and around me. But the people with whom I spent my time touched my heart more than the place. Manthan’s staff, my fellow interns, my mentor and facilitators, the villagers made me realize that I don’t suck at connecting with people. That I too can build lasting and beautiful bonds. I could love myself and people at the same time.

I would forever be grateful to Pravah, myself and everyone who was a part of my journey for giving me one of the most promising 'turning point' of my life.” - Dhriti
“One important thing I learnt is to ask questions. Because by asking questions, we can get an answer. And with an answer, we know more things and gain more knowledge. We can also avoid being fooled by people. Believing everything that we see will fool us and to not get fooled, I will always ask questions and try to understand what lies beneath.” — Student, SR DAV Public School

Curious Me

The impact of the programme was evident through a major shift in the confidence of adolescents directly engaged in the programme.

It also reflected in the way adolescents brought up responses and articulation on issues pertaining to their school.

The common issues highlighted were bullying, discipline, lack of sports facilities and cleanliness.

The programme reached out to 280 students, 17 educators directly and 500 students indirectly.

Curious Me the culmination events to celebrate the Curious me journey reached out to 200 people directly.

“The innovative concept of the programme in academic session 2015-16 for 100 students of SR DAV Public school has helped each and every student to cope with problems in their daily life. Ice-berg concept has helped students identify and modify their behaviors.”

— M. Bahuguna, Supervisory Head

CBSE Trainings

- With 59 teachers in St. Mary’s Christian School, Sahibabad
- With 16 teachers Jaipur International School, Jaipur
- With 34 teachers in Ganges Valley School, Nizampet, Hyderabad

FUN CAMP

We had two camps and both were celebrated for its impact on students.

The camp in the month of November has been designing to create an exposure on issues of community based water shed management through the Tarun Bharat Sangh founded by Dr. Rajender Singh also got Magsaysay award for his work on the issue.

From Me To We: Challenging Gender Realities and Enhancing Safety through Leadership Journey.

_The change we made_

Boys and girls felt more comfortable in playing outdoor games.

Participants were able to voice out how they felt when they go out late evenings and revealed that girls faced domestic violence at home.

All the participants agreed that girls are facing violence, even those who earlier said there is no discrimination against girls.

Participants considered eve teasing as unwelcoming and not entertainment.

We had the culmination event of the program on 10th May, 2016. Samvarta was a grand event conducted to celebrate the journeys of the adolescents and was attended by all the stakeholders and representatives from the Department Women and Child Development.

We celebrate our partnerships with schools which came together with Pravah to implement this program, were also part of the last cycle, and came back for a second cycle for their students.
PRAVAH JAIPUR INITIATIVE (PJI)

PJI team has made a direct outreach to more than 3500 young people in a year.

PJI has delivered quality programs which have helped in broadening the understanding of young people and adolescents on diverse issues like gender, caste, discrimination, self, and entrepreneurship.

For the first time PJI has done a program in Government Schools for the first time. PJI has done the action of Life Mere Asia curriculum. Participants planned the action of Life Mere Asia life curriculum and presented in the form of Dance Drama. Students also made comics on street bullying and child marriage. Participants were on their own decisions while working on their aspirations.

PJI has organized the Udaan - MLMF closure event and reached out to 180 adolescents and 25-30 teachers. The organization in front of Additional District Program and the organization of the Women in a Box.

I was of the opinion that Women's Day holds no great importance and kept away from the extraordinary people special. On the contrary, they give us a chance to think and realize things that we often take for granted in our hurry to "live" life. On Sunday, I met with people from different structures of society, people of different age groups and different approaches to life get together, a simple discussion made me a better person in terms of experience and knowledge, knowing my own self.

We all live in a bubble. To us, our world is a need some external force that would pop our bubble.

While the world and most of the country was raging madly, there came a small group of women, most of them, past their prime and a clear head. Women in a box.

Youth is the future of any country, the time to take care of them, curriculum, being defensive and not allowing the students to realize how we have slightly, or surely succumbed to the idea of once thinking that it is generally a sign of weakness. Probly, it is the only thing that we can do to make the world a better place. For us.*

Riti Das Dhankar

Volunteers have impacted policy makers during the Un-manifesto campaign by collecting voices from around 600 young people.

Volunteers have created spaces on social media forums for conversation on diverse issues like a page 'let actions speak on Facebook in which have shared stories around gender stereotypes.

The MLMF participants showcased their leadership journey in front of a gathering, which for them was a big celebration as they had never had an opportunity to do something like before.
Pravah International Citizen Service

Pravah ICS is a 3 month rural volunteering programme for young people from the UK and India. It is led by Voluntary Service Overseas UK and run in partnership with Pravah. It is funded by DFID (Department for International Development) the UK Government.

Facilitate an inside out leadership journey for young people across UK and India

To create social impact in the community through positive developmental outcomes

Investing in the power of cross border experiential journeys to build young active citizens

Impact

Pravah ICS partnered with Synergy Sansthan (Harda, Madhya Pradesh) & Manthan Sansthan (Ajmer, Rajasthan) and jointly created and implemented developmental projects with focus on key social areas.

Built a sustainable model of development empowering community members to take ownership.

"For me, development meant bridges, dams, industries; good economics as they call it... but now, I think it is about strong human relationships... a long process... The man, who sells omelet next to my host home, lost his land and livelihood to a dam project which submerged his village. His shop exists till the villagers let him. For now, they are letting him. Development is about taking people along. Nobody should be left behind.” - Shiraz Shaikh, Indian Volunteer

Successes of the year

Powerful intervention in the community

Impact in the community by empowering people with life skills and creating attitudinal shifts.

Initiative taken by volunteers and youth from within the community.

Impactful campaigns and awareness on schemes, education, healthcare, and other developmental areas.

No Poverty
Zero Hunger
Reduced inequalities
Peace, justice and strong Institutions
Sustainable cities and communities
Decent work and economic Growth
Gender Equality

Volunteer Miranda Cunis starting of Community Action day on Education in Bhadoon village, Batch Sep-Dec 2015, Rajasthan Manthan

Real change only happens when people start to challenge their own mindsets, and the volunteers were able to do this. This is the only way to dissolve the rural urban divide, to bring a global perspective and culture to villages, cities and countries across the world. It has been a great two way learning experience for all of us here at Manthan, the volunteers and Pravah” – Teja Ram, Manthan- Founder and Head, Host Organisation

Areas of focus moving forward strategically placement projects with a strong focus on Health, Education, Youth empowerment and Local Governance focusing on empowering young people, girls and women in the community; and aligning these placement outcomes with the different Sustainable Developmental Goals.

Creating a sustained and impactful engagement with Pravah ICS Alumni and focusing on active citizenship in the communities of these young people.

Building strong brand visibility for Pravah across India and developing strong strategic partnership with national youth networks to reach out to the maximum number of young people.

Rural placement of 3 months with an additional 6 months for completion of Social Action Project From 2015 to 2018

HOW WE MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Through projects on government schemes and accessibility of the same, there has been a significant increase in the number of people receiving their Pensions (1000 new applicants have been able to receive, and 700 old pensions have been activated)

Through regular meetings with district and local government officials, volunteers have been able to hold them accountable on a series of issues such as pension schemes, children’s rights and the RTE act.

There is an increase in the access to healthcare of people in the community through regular Health Camps/ melas, focused meetings and trainings on menstrual health. There is not only an increase in awareness around what are good health practices but also building up the buy in of stakeholders such as government hospitals and doctors to support this process in the community.

STREAMING INTERVENTION

With a vision to create a 5th space ecosystem of youth led and youth centric organisations, the Streaming programme supports partners to strengthen their institutional and programme implementation skills.

In the given time period, 15 out of the 17 Streaming partners worked with young people in 10 States on diverse issues - youth leadership; life skills education; social inclusion and justice around gender, caste and religious identities; governance; employability and; entrepreneurship.

Transformative Journeys for young people to address the issue of Early and Child Marriage in order to strengthen the creation of 5th space in 6 partner locations and to prevent discrimination against women and girls by securing their right for a healthy, safe and dignified life.

Six partners demonstrated 5th spaces that supported the integration of the issue of Early Child Marriage in their youth/adolescent programs.

300 young people and 300 adolescents (100 from each partner) were engaged in the journey directly and enabled to take decisions regarding their lives and bodies.

30 young people (10 from each partner) were developed as 5th space facilitators (Youth Leaders) to be advocates against issues of social discrimination, including child marriage.

30 adolescents were developed as Peer Ambassadors (Adolescent Peer Leaders), standing for and living the values of 5th space: playing an active role in exercising their agency and speaking up against child marriage.

Building The Next Generation Movement leaders and Organizations in South Asia for Young People’s Sexual and Health and Rights in India (ARROW SRHR)

Learning and Leadership Journey with young people on Comprehensive Sexuality Education and Sexual and Reproductive Health and rights.

Building the next generation movement leaders and organizations in India for young people’s sexual and reproductive health and rights including sexual violence, female foeticide, child marriage in select districts, and including all relevant stakeholders.

Strengthened capacities of 10 youth change makers through deeper engagement with the issues under SRHR and CSE as well as capacity building on advocacy through a learning and leadership journey.

Strengthened 5 action projects geared towards working with other young people to help them develop a concrete view of human sexuality, take charge of their own sexuality and sexual and reproductive rights and respect and uphold the sexual and reproductive rights of others.

10 youth changemakers were mentored and supported to advocate for.

Melting pot was a yearlong leadership support programme to youth to increase their understanding self, identities, exclusion and empathy (West Bengal, India)

The Melting Pot programme aimed to ‘prevent’ discrimination and exclusion

Work with young people - and build their capacities to become leaders of today and of the future

100 youth went through the journey of Melting Pot and were able to make a lasting commitment to the values of justice, equality and peace

Inputs such as workshops, addas, rural internship, and Mentoring were given in conjunction to help youth understand their own identities and understand and respect multiple identities.

Theater on Early Child Marriage and Sanitation
Building Youth Leadership – Supported by UNNITI

A year-long engagement through which Prerah supported three youth-led organizations to strengthen their team-YES Foundation in Lucknow, People for Parity in Delhi and Patang in Sambalpur, Odisha

Broad objective of the program was to foreground 5th Spaces to create and consolidate youth resource centers (rural and urban both) to promote youth leadership for social change.

All three partner NGOs have strengthened their capacity to run leadership journeys for youth.

Building Youth Leadership – Supported by IDS

Broad objective of the program was to reach out to 500 young people directly to enhance their leadership capacities. Support to 3 organisations was at 3 levels:

- Institutional capacities
- People capacities
- Programme capacities.

With this intervention in the year 2015 – 2016 we saw

- Increased participation of youth in governance

Prerah and Commonwealth Partnership - Youth for Peace and Harmony; an intervention engaging youth to take on leadership advocating for peace and social inclusion.

Youth leaders developed and implemented 12 strong on ground social action projects with a common objective of promoting social inclusion, peace and harmony in the community through engaging with different issues and diverse audiences. They were able to reach out to 1,275 people.

Subsequently, to culminate their leadership journeys, four state level events were organised to visualise whole idea of youth participation in promoting inclusive and harmonious society through responsible action.

Three of four events were held during the Commonwealth Youth Work Week engaging various stakeholders to felicitate, support.

Caste in Stone (?)

_Caste in Stone (?)_ uses a psycho-social approach to working with young people on caste-based exclusion. This curriculum explores issues of identity and caste from the parallel lenses of self and society, simultaneously looking at individual processes of identity formation and social processes of exclusion, power, and privilege.

The curriculum is inspired from Prerah’s classical FMTW design but has been re-worked and re-designed in order to

Changeloons With.In

Identifying, mentoring, strengthening and incubating youth-led initiatives on social inclusion. These are focused on deepening their reflective abilities (reflection + action), articulate their vision for self and social change, strengthening their on-ground intervention strategies.

Debgopal from Birbhum in West Bengal has made a film on the LGBTQ community. In the process of making the film, the volunteers (who were both LGBTQ and heterosexual) got to know each other and overcame their biases towards people with different sexual orientations.

57% belonged to Socially excluded groups: 37 women, 1 transgender, 13 SCs, 10 STs, 7 Muslims & persons with disabilities

Changeloons have reached out to approximately 80,000 people in the course of their journey. Of these, 9,667 young leaders who were implementing new ideas/projects to strengthen their initiatives on social inclusion through the lens of power, privilege and purity framework developed at Pravah Instruction Design.

The focus on the 'self' has helped Changeloons to reflect on their strengths, values, aspirations and fears and to get in touch with themselves – as individuals and as leaders. For example, Manika, who works with trafficked women, realised that she was bringing a lot of negative energy from work and needed to start loving herself and enjoying life. Shahina discovered that she was always trying to live up to other people's expectations, instead of doing what she most enjoys. Meanwhile, Devrachan shared that he had always been extremely results-oriented, which had taken a toll on his relationships with his family and his friends.

Today they are ready to think differently.

Impact on Projects

Many Changeloons have started building the capacities of their teams and delegating responsibility so that they can increase their outreach and also develop greater ownership within the team for the project. Thanks to the inputs on youth development, instructional design and community facilitation, they have been able to engage with more young people, mobilising volunteers and giving them opportunities to take on leadership roles within their organisations. The Changeloons have also been successful in strengthening their initiatives by introducing systems and processes, such as reviews, planning, bookkeeping, accounts, documentation and reporting. They have also developed new partnerships with other organisations to complement and strengthen their work. Engagement with stakeholders has also increased as Changeloons have reached out to and won the support of parents, teachers, doctors, local government representatives and other people who have been able to contribute to the success of their projects.

Enhancing Privileges for Socially Excluded Groups

The people that the Changeloons have been working with are among the most marginalised communities in India, especially Dalit and tribal groups living in remote areas. These groups have little access to services and many of the Changeloons' initiatives have focused on making these services accessible and affordable.

For example, both Ranjit (who has been working with a Musahar community in Bihar) and Onkar (who has been working with the Behror primitive tribal group in Jharkhand) have opened learning centres and managed to enroll 80 children in formal education and careers.

Changeloons have also been working to empower socially excluded groups, especially young girls, to make their own decisions. They have created opportunities for members of these groups to participate in decision-making processes that have impacted their communities. For example, Jacinta, Bali, Shahina and Sneha have all created collectives of Dalit, Muslim and tribal adolescent girls where they can talk about their concerns, learn about their rights and form an opinion about issues, such as early marriage, sexual harassment and domestic violence. This knowledge has built the confidence of the girls and has helped them to negotiate many decisions in their life, such as decisions regarding marriage, education and careers.
TEEN CLUB: PrayasApna

Enabling adolescents to take responsibility to realize their dreams
Delineating roles and responsibilities of all field functionaries
Strengthening monitoring mechanisms
Focusing on hands-on transaction in all capacity building efforts

Pravah was chosen as the National Resource Organization responsible for re-strategizing the program to strengthen quality and deepen impact in 2013. As part of this, 1860 Teen Clubs have been established in 10 districts of five UNFPA priority states with the objective of ensuring a healthy and safe growing up process for adolescents primarily in out-of-school settings. The program is running in Jhabua and Mandla in Madhya Pradesh, Ganjam and Koraput in Odisa, Udaipur and Jhalawar in Rajasthan, Purnea and Gaya in Bihar and Satara and Amrawati in Maharashtra.

“Earlier I used to think that these teen club members were not doing any significant activities but when I attended some meetings I realized that these children are doing lot of good activities for village. I came here along with my daughter-in-law’s sister to support her to attend the Peer Educators’ training. I think we all should support the children in our own way to achieve their ambitions.”
- Balram Kumar, Guardian of Peer Educator

1860 Social Action Projects
Involving 7440 Peer Educators, 37200 Teen Club Members and communities of 1860 Villages

1860 Health Melas
Involving 7440 Peer Educators, 37200 Teen Club Members and communities of 1860 Villages across 5 states

5 State level recognition events
480 Peer Educators: District programme officers, Technical Facilitator, Adolescent programme volunteers, Block Technical Facilitators

5 Staff Enablement workshops
159 District programme officers, Technical Facilitator, Adolescent programme volunteers, Block Technical Facilitators

5 Monthly Newsletters in 10 Hindi and 8 in English, 1 Film and 1 Compendium

The Programme prods the adolescent to dream, develop a strategy to reach that dream, build their resolve and commitment towards it.

Identify the dream (Sapna), make efforts through structured intervention and activities (PrayasApna)

Where do I want to go?
What are the internal and external challenges that hinder the achievement of the dream?

What do I do now? What efforts do I need to make to fulfill my dream
Abilities beyond skills (ABS)

Abilities beyond skills has built and sustained values, attitudes and capacities that are critical at the workplace. It has also developed effective decisions making skills in the participants which then aligns with social realities to examine and appreciate diversity in the work place.

IMPACT OF LEARNING VOYAGES

Clarity emerged for many in terms of their learning needs, career choices. They became self-awareness in terms of their behaviours, decision making methods, how they influence relationships. Action projects reflected the forward dynamics of taking leadership in their own life as well as society

Through the different interventions LV has worked in building capacities across the sector right from working with youth facilitators and individuals who have a core rule in their influence, helped shaping employable human resources.
